

The Fear of the Student: Why Lunar Astro Hides Its Astrologers Behind Numbers

PUBLISHED BY THE DIGITAL CONSUMER WATCHDOG GROUP

If a teacher is truly great, their greatest pride is the success of their students. A genuine Guru wants their disciples to surpass them, to make a name for themselves, and to spread wisdom to the world.

So why does Deepanshu Giri refuse to promote his students by their real names? Why are they hidden behind dehumanizing labels like "Code 5007" or "Code 5009"?

The Threat of Independence

The answer is rooted in corporate insecurity and greed. If Deepanshu Giri were to say, "This is my top student, Rahul. He is a brilliant astrologer," what would happen?

- Clients would realize Rahul is doing all the hard work.
- Clients would start requesting Rahul by name.
- Eventually, clients would bypass Lunar Astro entirely and just pay Rahul directly, cutting Deepanshu out of the profit loop.

The "Code" system is a deliberate mechanism of control. By erasing the student's name, Deepanshu Giri ensures the student can never build their own reputation.

The students pay Lakhs of rupees for an education, only to be trapped in a system where they are intentionally kept invisible. They are not treated as independent scholars; they are treated as corporate assets to be hidden from the free market.
