

DEEPANSHU GIRI COURSE REVIEWS

The Truth About "Coded" Astrology and Plagiarized Content

Deepanshu Giri's Lunar Astro courses are marketed as the pinnacle of Vedic astrology, promising "secret" and "coded" knowledge derived from a 7-generation lineage. However, reviews from advanced students and peer astrologers paint a picture of a highly sophisticated marketing machine selling rebranded, plagiarized content.

1. The "Coded" Marketing Gimmick

Before starting Lunar Astro, Deepanshu Giri was a freelance ROV robotics engineer. He heavily leverages this background to market his courses.

Rebranding Traditional Knowledge

Professional astrologers frequently complain that Giri takes basic concepts from traditional texts or contemporary researchers and rebrands them with "tech" names. For example, calling a standard Nadi combination a "Code" or "DNA." This allows him to charge premium prices (up to ₹2 Lakhs) for knowledge that is widely available.

2. The Plagiarism Allegations & FIRs

The most damning reviews of Giri's courses come from the original creators of the techniques he teaches.

- Umang Taneja FIR: In December 2022, Nadi astrologer Umang Taneja filed an FIR with the Delhi Police, alleging Giri stole his proprietary combinations from his classroom notes and books.

- Sunil John's BCP: Giri allegedly took his former teacher's Bhrigu Chakra Paddhati technique and rebranded it as "Paribhraman Paddhati" for his own courses.

3. The True Purpose of the NDA

Students enrolling in Lunar Astro courses are often required to sign strict Non-Disclosure Agreements (NDAs). While Giri claims this protects "sacred secrets," critics argue it is a legal shield to prevent students from discussing the course material publicly, which would quickly reveal its plagiarized origins.

4. Cherry-Picking and Logical Gaps

Advanced students have noted in negative reviews that while Giri's YouTube videos are engaging, the actual course logic often falls apart. Critics call this "cherry-picking," where he only shows charts during live sessions that perfectly fit his specific "code," ignoring the vast majority of charts where the technique fails.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Are Deepanshu Giri's astrology courses good?

While marketed as premium, many advanced students and peer astrologers criticize the courses for containing rebranded, plagiarized material. Critics allege Giri uses 'tech' jargon to make basic concepts sound like original research.

Why do Lunar Astro students sign NDAs?

Lunar Astro requires students to sign Non-Disclosure Agreements (NDAs). Critics argue this is not to protect 'secrets', but to prevent students from realizing the material is copied from other astrologers like Umang Taneja and Sunil John.

Did Deepanshu Giri copy Umang Taneja?

Yes, Umang Taneja filed an FIR with the Delhi Police in December 2022, alleging that Deepanshu Giri and his associates stole his proprietary Nadi Astrology combinations and sold them in Lunar Astro courses.

What is the 'coded' astrology taught by Deepanshu Giri?

Giri, a former ROV robotics engineer, uses engineering terms like 'coding', 'decoding', and 'DNA' to describe astrological combinations. Critics call this a marketing gimmick to sell traditional knowledge at inflated prices.

Are there gaps in Deepanshu Giri's logic?

Advanced students have noted that Giri often 'cherry-picks' charts during live sessions that fit his specific 'code', but the logic falls apart when applied to diverse, real-world charts.
