

DEEPANSHU GIRI PREDICTIONS FAILED

The Accuracy Myth, Cherry-Picked Charts, and the Proxy Scam

Deepanshu Giri's YouTube channel is filled with videos claiming 100% accuracy using his "coded" and "secret" astrological techniques. However, independent reviews and analyses by advanced students reveal a massive discrepancy between his marketing and reality.

1. The Illusion of Accuracy: Cherry-Picking Charts

Peer astrologers and advanced students have noted a significant flaw in Giri's teaching methodology.

The "Code" Falls Apart

Critics allege that Giri engages in heavy "cherry-picking." During live sessions and YouTube videos, he only presents charts that perfectly align with his specific "code" or "DNA" technique. However, when students attempt to apply these exact same rules to diverse, real-world charts, the logic completely falls apart, leading to wildly inaccurate predictions.

2. The "Code 5007" Proxy Scam

The biggest reason for failed predictions at Lunar Astro is the bait-and-switch consultation model.

- Paying for the Master, Getting the Intern: Customers pay premium fees (often ₹10,000+) expecting Deepanshu Giri's expertise. Instead, they are redirected to anonymous student interns identified only by numerical codes (e.g., Code 5007).
- Generic Readings: Because these interns lack experience, the readings provided are often described as "copy-paste," vague, and entirely inaccurate.

3. Suppressing the Truth

To maintain the illusion of perfect accuracy, Lunar Astro allegedly employs aggressive digital suppression tactics. A network of 31 redundant websites is used to flood Google search results, burying legitimate consumer complaints about failed predictions. Furthermore, negative comments on YouTube are reportedly deleted within minutes.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Are Deepanshu Giri's predictions accurate?

Many customers report that the predictions they received were highly inaccurate. Reviewers on MouthShut state that 'till now no prediction came true' and describe the readings as vague and generic.

Why do Deepanshu Giri's techniques fail?

Advanced astrology students allege that Giri 'cherry-picks' charts during his YouTube videos. He only shows charts that perfectly fit his 'coded' techniques, but when students apply these rules to real-world charts, the logic falls apart.

Who actually does the Lunar Astro consultations?

Despite paying premium fees for Deepanshu Giri, customers are often handed off to anonymous student interns identified only by codes, such as 'Code 5007'. This bait-and-switch leads to poor quality predictions.

Does Lunar Astro delete negative reviews about failed predictions?

Yes, investigations reveal that Lunar Astro uses a 31-website SEO spam network to bury complaints and actively deletes negative comments on YouTube and Quora to maintain the illusion of 100% accuracy.
